St. Ann Parish Mission Statement

We are called by a loving God to make St. Ann of Lansing a Catholic community of faith.
We are a family of diverse people with various ministries:
healing the body and spirit, teaching of God and His love, united in sacraments and prayer, reaching out to the extended community.
With God's revelation of Himself in Scripture as our guide, we strive to grow in His Spirit and to fulfill the promise of Christ's Kingdom.

Twenty-fourth Sunday of Ordinary Time: FORGIVENESS

Today's Gospel deals with a subject which concerns us all — forgiveness. None of us can go through life without getting hurt. How do we cope with these hurts? They can provide us with an opportunity to grow, or they can become a stumbling block to human and spiritual development.

The theme of all our readings this weekend is forgiveness. Reading the paper each day shows us what unforgiveness does to nations, as they keep trying to get revenge on one another for some real or imagined act of cruelty. Some of the battles between different peoples have roots that go back hundreds of years. Many still live by the ancient principle of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." That rule was meant to keep a person from exacting more revenge than what was appropriate. In other words, if someone knocked out one of your teeth, you could only knock out one of theirs and no more! I couldn't find the exact quote, but I think it was Martin Luther King who said if we all insisted on an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, soon everyone in the world would be blind and toothless. In the Sermon on the Mount (Mt. 6, 38), Jesus told us that is no longer the rule we should live by. Today's parable illustrates His position of forgiveness. We can't hold on to hate and desire for revenge. We have to let go.

Hurts are not easy to deal with. As soon as we get hurt self-pity walks in our front door — which is only natural. But once self-pity is entertained, it produces a legacy of bitterness, resentment, and anger. The memory of wrongs flows inwards where it festers. It poisons our spirit and destroys our capacity to love. Some people have years of stored hurts inside them.

From time to time the cellar of the mind and heart must be cleaned out. The cobwebs of self-pity have to be swept away. The cancerous growth of bitterness has to be cut out. Hurt feelings have to be dug up, owned and then let go.

Here is where forgiveness comes in. Though never easy, even from a human point of view it makes great sense. We rid ourselves of the burden of bitterness and resentment. As a result, we experience a sense of freedom, relief, and cleanliness. Once again, we are able to devote all our energies to loving, which is the only activity that befits a Christian. Forgiveness is first and foremost a healing of our own hearts. It is precisely our hearts that are wounded.

A couple of comments might help us get a feel for Jesus' parable in today's Gospel. Our translation is very weak and does not give the full impact of what was going on. It spoke of "a huge amount" that a servant owed his king and then of "a much smaller amount" that was owed. The original version (in the Greek) says the man owed his king ten thousand talents. In today's money that would be about two or three billion dollars. In that society, it was customary for people who couldn't pay off their debts to be sold into slavery. The king's generosity was beyond belief. The man whose debt was cancelled was owed (again looking at the original Greek) a hundred denarii. Translated into today's dollars, that's about $5000. It boggles our mind to think that anyone could be as selfish as the man in today's Gospel. He was given so much and despite the unbelievable example of generosity shown by his king, he hadn't learned how to be generous toward others.

Refusing to forgive is a form of anger, anger we will not let go of (or as the first reading describes it so poetically, anger that a person hugs tight). The man in the parable who refused to forgive his fellow servant may have been motivated by selfishness or pettiness or greed or by the refusal to let anyone take advantage of him. I think in most cases, however, when someone refuses to let go of their anger it is because of pride. We tell ourselves, when we are hurt by someone, we should not have been treated like that. No doubt we were treated badly, but we do more harm to ourselves than to anyone else when we keep that anger alive in us.

It will only eat us up emotionally and maybe even physically. As a counselor I have seen what unforgiveness does to the individual who cannot let go of pain or hurt someone has caused them. Jesus' admonition to forgive is good not only spiritually but psychologically too. One of the people we often have difficulty forgiving is ourselves. We do something we are embarrassed about or ashamed of and we continue to beat ourselves up.

It's true, at times we have to be willing to admit that we may have been at least partly to blame for what happened. It is not good enough to forgive in word. We must forgive, as the Gospel says, from the heart. It's not a question of forgiving if and when the offender repents — that would be relatively easy. We are expected to forgive even if the offender doesn't repent — this is what makes it so difficult, and why we need God's grace.

Forgiveness clears a path for God to forgive us. The only obstacle we can put in the way of God's forgiveness of our sins is our inability to forgive the sins of others. We all need forgiveness. People who cannot forgive break down the bridge over which they themselves must pass. Blessed are those who forgive; they shall obtain forgiveness for their own sins.

Our pride tells us we should be better than we really are, and when we fail, our pride comes down on us with a vengeance. Certainly, we should keep working to improve ourselves and to learn from our mistakes (this is healthy pride), but we also need to accept the fact that we are not perfect. And beating ourselves up will not help us improve ourselves, it will only depress us. Oftentimes, people have complained to me in counseling or in confession, "I don't feel as if God has forgiven me for what I did." I tell them, that is because they haven't forgiven themselves.

Obviously, today's Gospel parable is about forgiveness, but there is another important element to it and that is that we must not forget how generous God has been to us. Dear my family of faith, every time we enter this sanctuary of St. Ann or any other Christian sanctuary, we have a symbol of the forgiveness that has been extended to us. It is the cross. Accept the grace that is offered to you every time you go to any church, in the name of that One who has forgiven you a debt which you cannot possibly repay, and extend grace to others. Amen

Forgiveness

Nearly ten years before, a son and father had parted ways when the business they shared went bankrupt. The son blamed the father. They did not speak to each other again.

Then the father became seriously ill. The mother called the son and told him he had better come soon. The son walked sheepishly into the hospital room. The father motioned his son to him and whispered: "Did you ever think you could do anything that would keep me from loving you?"

Resentment and anger are foul things, the first reading from Sirach tells us. Remember the last things. Stop hating. Live by the commandments. As St. Paul writes to the Romans, we are to live for the Lord and die for the Lord.

Jesus' parable in today's Gospel reminds us of God's compassion. The immense sin of humanity has been forgiven and stricken from the record. We are to forgive others in the same way. Copyright © J. S. Paluch Co.

With many parishioners still not back in church yet, our collections are way down. Luckily, we already have secure electronic giving established through Give Central, where our faithful can make offertory donations without coming in contact with anyone. Absent the weekly collection, we will find it difficult to keep going: ministry, maintenance, staff, and other expenses rely on our parishioners' weekly generosity. The heart of our Renew My Church efforts is the parish grouping process—the goal of which is to ensure that all parishes across the archdiocese have the vision, leadership, resources, and operational foundation necessary to create an effective culture of evangelization that makes disciples, builds communities, and inspires witness.

Why Group Parishes Together?

- Changing church attendance patterns over many decades has left many parishes heavily burdened by operational and financial concerns that limit their ability to have expansive ministry programs around evangelization and discipleship formation.
- A decreasing number of priests available to serve at parishes creates a need to rethink our leadership model to include a stronger lay leadership core team with proper governance structures for accountability.
- There is a need to ensure that we have a common understanding of proven evangelization programs and processes that are rooted in Catholic teaching.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN FOR US AT ST. ANN?

All 344 parishes in the diocese have been joined into 98 groupings. Within these groupings, parishes will determine opportunities for collaboration and unity following a structured process for discernment, transition, and building a future together. This means all parishes in a grouping will become ONE new parish. St. Ann has been grouped with St. John Glenwood, St. James Sauk Village, Sts. Kieran, Agnes, and Paul in Chicago Heights, St. Irenaeus Park Forest, and St. Lawrence O'Toole Matteson. It has yet to be determined which of these eight churches will close and which will remain open as worship sites of the new parish. Please pray for our Renew My Church team as they meet with the other parishes to represent St. Ann through this process, which will conclude with the closing of several of the churches in our grouping by next summer, 2021.

Dear St. Ann Parish, Parents, and Students,

Even though we were only in school for four days this past week, we were very busy and productive. This was iReady assessment week. Our Middle Schoolers tested on Tuesday/Wednesday, and our Primary Grades tested on Thursday/Friday. Having come off of our spring e-learning pivot and then a relaxed summer, we are very interested to see where these beginning of the year scores will direct us over the course of the trimester.

The USDA issued an announcement on August 31 that all school children will be eligible to receive free meals from September 1 through December 31, 2020. This means that effective immediately, our SAS students will be able to receive all of their meals served at school for FREE, regardless of whether they are attending in-school or participating in eLearning from home! E-learning families will be able to pick up two (2) days' worth of meals at St. Ann every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. In addition, we have meals for your children at home ages 2 years to 18 years ... even those not enrolled in the school. Meal entrees that need to be heated at home will include heating instructions inside each of the individual two day meal boxes. All meals include a carton of milk. Thank you to FSP, our meal provider, for working with us on this.

Congratulations to our 2020/21 Student Council executive board: 8th graders Gianna Hillegonds and Natalie Gray (CEO), and 7th graders Miley Podgorski, Ava DeMay, and Jayda Caver. Please pray for our young leaders of the school as they reinvent their roles under the strange circumstances of this school year.

We do have space for additional virtual learners at every level from PreK through 8th grades, and have limited in-person spots left in a few grades. Is anyone you know not happy with the current arrangement at their school? Suggest that they give us a call! We will be happy to set up a Google Meet or even an in-person tour. Don't forget that current families can earn a $500 Referral Incentive for every new family that registers because of you!

Have a safe and happy week,

Principal Gonzalez

Now More Than Ever Our Students Need Us!

During these unprecedented days of COVID-19, St. Ann School students have relied on us more than ever for stability, spirituality, and a solid education, and we have been here for them! Our outstanding staff was ready and capable, and distance learning began immediately following the stay-at-home order. We did not miss even one day of learning, and we have formulated a flexible plan for 2020/21 that will allow for any contingencies that may arise.

Now More Than Ever We Need You!

Many of our families are experiencing financial hardship due to the current pandemic. The decrease in incoming tuition and the postponement of budgeted fundraisers have put us in a much more difficult financial situation than usual. As an alumnus, parishioner, or close friend of the school, you have a unique understanding of what St. Ann and Catholic education means to our students, staff, families, and community. We are asking you to prayerfully consider making a donation to the St. Ann Sustenance Fund to help see us through these tough times. No gift is too small, and sharing this plea with your friends and family will also help us greatly. Contributions may be made at the links below or mailed in (marked St. Ann Sustenance Fund or SASFund). Thank you for your support and generosity!

Thank you for considering a gift to help sustain St. Ann School and Catholic education in the Lansing area during the current health crisis.
